Hot Springs
Club Gives
Up Charter

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty.
Gen. Joe Purcell said Thursday
he has been notified that Coy's Club of Hot Springs has voluntarily dissolved its charter.
Purcell said Richard H. Wootton, of Hot Springs, an attorney for the club notified him of the action. Purcell had filed complaints against Coy's and six other Hot Springs clubs asking that the clubs' charters be revoked.
The Turf Business and Professional Men's Club is the only one which has resisted a petition to revoke its charter. The club filed a routine answer recently which entitles it to a hearing on the merits of the complaint.
If the suits are now answered within 20 days the state can have the charters revoked as a matter of course. The five other clubs have not filed answers.

Honors to Leverett

Lloyd Leverett of Young Chevrolet Co., Hope, has returned from a zone awards banquet in Memphis held annually to honor Chevrolet salesmen who qualify for the Legion of Leaders.

In addition, Mr. Leverett also qualified for the Hall of Honor award given to the salesman whose achievements merit special recognition. Chevrolet salesmen can gain no higher selling honor than this.

This was Mr. Leverett's 12th year in the Legion of Leaders and 4th in the Hall of Honor.
Only 42 salesmen from the Memphis zone qualified for the Hall of Honor award.

Not attending but qualifying for his 18th year in the Legion of Leaders was F. T. Raley of Young Chevrolet.

Accompanying Mr. Leverett to the banquet was his daughter, Toni and her friend, Robin Formby.

Asks Reread
at Salary Supplement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — G.
Thomas Eisele, Gov. Winthrop
Rockefeller's legal aide, said
Thursday that he believed Atty.
Gen. Joe Purcell overlooked some points in making his decision not to allow Rockefeller to supplement the salaries of employees on the state payroll.

Eisele said that a conference would be arranged as soon as Rockefeller returns from his California vacation to review the opinion.

Purcell showed no indication Thursday of changing his opinion on the basis of the questions the governor asked, which was whether he could pay, with his personal funds, more than the maximum salary set by the legislature to some key employees.

Purcell said that his opinion dealt solely with the governor subsidizing with his money salaries in excess of what the legislature provided. His opinion said this couldn't be done legally.

Rockefeller had said that he believed his supplementing the salaries of a few employees he felt should have raises above legislative maximums would not be a bad precedent for subsequent governors without his personal means.

Rockefeller said that once the legislature realized the value of these highly paid specialists to the state government, the legislators would increase the salaries to the level necessary to keep them.

In a 1949 state Supreme Court decision, the court commented:
"In this connection we point out that some employees receive additional compensation derived from federal as well as county sources and some from endowments or gifts. The legislative determination in the appropriation act of a maximum salary does not prohibit such supplementation of salaries from such other sources, as these are not 'cash funds' (fees and charges which were the subject of the litigation)."

The court also said that no injunction should prohibit the supplementation of salaries by the use of funds given for salaries and not controlled by the legislature.

Purcell said, however, that this was comment and not law.

Campaign Financing Uncertain

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP) — An unprecedented row between the Senate's two top Democratic leaders left uncertain today the future of a bitterly controversial presidential election campaign financing plan.

At the height of the dispute,
Majority Leader Mike Mansfield indicated that he would prefer to resign rather than yield on the point at issue with Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the Democratic whip.

Both men finally said "a failure of communication" appeared to have led to a misunderstanding which resulted in the sharp words.

But veteran senators said they could not recall when there had been such an open break between two top party leaders.

There have been some private disagreements between Mansfield and Long since the Louisianian became the assistant leader in 1965, but nothing like Thursday's public airing.

The dispute broke out after Long had won what seemed an important victory in his protracted battle to save the campaign financing plan enacted into law last year.

This came on a 46-42 Senate vote to adopt a Long-sponsored tax bill rider which would have continued the election financing plan in a slightly revised form.
The vote reversed the Senate's position of a week earlier.
Then it had adopted 48 to 42 a rider to repeal the plan.

Long had told newsmen this was to be followed by a Mansfield motion to strip from the bill all extraneous riders adopted during four weeks of floor consideration — including those affecting the campaign financing plan.

Then, he said, the Senate would pass the tax measure without amendment and with a directive to the Finance Committee which Long heads to study all of the extraneous riders and report on them.

But when Mansfield offered his motion, it proposed to leave intact one rider to the bill — a repealer of the campaign financing plan effective July 31.

Long, flushed and clearly unhappy, at once declared he was completely surprised by this and never would agree to it.

Mansfield insisted he still favored the campaign subsidy plan and that he did not intend to repeal it. He pointed out that his motion called for a study of the problem and a report by Long's committee in six weeks.

But Long said that, with repeal, he would be in an impossible position. Any attempt to revive the plan could be "talked to death" in the Senate, he said.
Other backers of the plan said if it were repealed, it never would be re-enacted in the House — where Republicans have many more votes than they did last year. Senate Republicans have raised solid opposition to the proposal.

Hawaii Asks Negotiations

HONOLULU (AP) — The Hawaii State Senate adopted a resolution Thursday calling for a negotiated peace in Vietnam.

It asks President Johnson "to exhaust every effort to maintain contact with the leaders of the world in order to enlist their aid in seeking an end to the war through negotiation" and calls for the nation "to continue all necessary support for American soldiers in Vietnam."

The resolution is a revised version of a proposal calling for a temporary cease-fire and withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam.

Surveyor 3 Extends a Shaky Arm

By RALPH DIGHTON
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) —
Surveyor 3 extended a shaky, tubular arm today but did not attempt to scratch the moon's pitted hide.

Trenching of the lunar soil may come sometime after 7 p.m. EST today when Jet Propulsion Laboratory scientists resume remote control operation of the three-legged spacecraft's scoop.

The scissor-type extension arm with a two-by-five-inch shovel on the end began reaching out from the craft at 4:56 a.m.
EST in two-second steps, a few inches at a time. The spacecraft's camera, mounted just above the arm, photographed each jerky movement and televised a series of pictures.

The arm was left extended about 50 inches a couple of feet above the moon's surface as controllers halted the operation shortly before 6 a.m. EST when the earth's rotation carried the tracking station at Goldstone, Calif., out of view of the moon.
The operations will be resumed
as the moon rises over Goldstone tonight.

One of the first movements tonight may be to drop the shovel onto the surface, testing the bearing strength for future manned landings. Scientists also hope Surveyor will dig a trench and for the first time photograph the soil beneath the surface.

Scientists said Surveyor's arm movements quelled earlier fears that the soil-sampler's electronic equipment had been damaged shortly after the craft touched down Wednesday night in a 20-foot-deep crater of the moon's dry Ocean of Storms.

As the lunar sunrise continued, glare from the spacecraft that had marred early photographs became negligible. A spokesman said photographs radioed back were "as sharp as

Will Boom

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Former presidential economic adviser Walter Heller predicts the nation's economy will recover from a 1966-67 slowdown and will "boom by the fourth quarter of this year or the first quarter of next."

Heller made his prediction, his first major pronouncement on the future of the nation's economy in almost six months, before an audience of nearly 150
of the area's leading bankers, stock brokers, underwriters and businessmen Thursday at Tampa.

Heller said no recession is in sight, contrary to predictions from some economic corners that the current "readjustment" of the economy will worsen.
"The worst is over for this year," Heller said.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The late Humphrey Bogart has become the center of a cult, most of whose members are so young they can only have seen his films in their endless television reruns or in revivals.

Joe Hyams, a former Hollywood newspaperman and author of a book, "Bogart," believes that he understands why Bogart is popular today with fans young enough to be his children.

"Bogart was always cool and loose, the way they'd like to be," he said. "His voice was a rasp and he even had a lisp, but he was tough outside while there was something warm inside. He may be partly father image, but there's also something about him that they can identify with."

Hyams served as production consultant for "Bogart," a documentary about the actor which will be broadcast on ABC next Sunday and found the assignment presented problems unknown to a book author but also revealed facets of his subject that literary research left concealed.

Hyams found himself watching endless hours of old films. "It was fascinating to watch him develop," he said. "He always had a natural way of taking a woman in his arms, but it became smoother."

Hyams also observed that in their many films together both Bogart and James Cagney invariably wound up repeating almost identical closing lines and even wore clothes they had used in earlier films.

Except for Cary Grant and perhaps a couple of others, Hyams thinks that film stars don't come in Bogart's dimensions today.

The six McLendon radio stations served formal notice on the music industry Wednesday by advertisements in trade journals that they were tired of records with "raunchy" lyrics and tired of complaints from listeners.

Starting May 15, the stations will refuse to consider playing any record submitted with a printed copy of the lyrics. Gordon B. McLendon, president of the chain, said he was "disturbed at the lyrics and sounds of many records popular with the youth of America. I think these records are morally

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Far-sighted industry leaders have long nurtured the dream of an institute to develop new film makers and preserve the achievements of the past. That dream may finally be realized.

Many European countries have film institutes which perform such functions. This is particularly true in the Soviet Union, Czechoslovakia and other Communist nations where the film industry is run by the government and movie workers are paid to learn their crafts.

The free enterprise system of the American movie industry has long overlooked the training of talent. There always seemed to be enough to go around.

Not any more. The imaginative, pace-setting films are now coming from London, Paris, Rome, Stockholm, Prague — not Hollywood. Many movie leaders are concerned about it.

Jack Valenti, new president of the Motion Picture Producers Association, announced at the beginning of his tenure that one of his major aims would be to bring new creative blood into the business. He sees the American Film Institute as a major instrument in achieving it.

"I believe the A.F.I. is worthy of being born," he said in an interview during a recent visit here. "I see it as the bridge over which the young untested film maker can enter into the industry."

Valenti reported some progress has been made. The National Committee on the Arts has been studying the proposal, and Stanford Research Institute has turned a survey on feasibility. Gregory Peck, who has chairmanned Hollywood backing for an A.F.I., has reported satisfaction with the Stanford report.

"The government has offered $1,300,000 on a matching basis," said Valenti. "Now we are studying ways of meeting that amount. We are talking to several foundations about the possibility of backing the A.F.I., and to the film companies as well."

INSENSITIVE OR USED TO FALSE ALARMS?

Dear Helen: Ours was one of those shotgun marriages. My husband has made it clear many times that he's sorry he went through with it. We've been married five unhappy years, but I love my family and don't want a divorce.

The other night I began having my severe chest pains. I called our doctor who couldn't come because he was preparing for surgery, so he suggested I get a check-up at the emergency ward of a hospital. I called my husband at 11 p.m., and he refused to get off work till his shift was over, at 2 a.m. I suffered.

When he finally got me to the hospital, the examination showed nothing serious, and my husband was furious because he lost his sleep, for nothing.

I think he would be happier if these pains of mine meant I'd die tomorrow, and maybe someday they will. His lack of concern is killing me. What to do? — P.O.H.

Dear P: Next time you see your doctor, tell him your family troubles and ask him to prescribe a marriage counselor. I doubt your aches and pains will ever ease until you straighten out your life. — H.

Dear Helen: After reading the gripes and self-made troubles of others, I realize how lucky I am. I don't guess others would call my husband special, but to me and our three girls, he is The One in a Million.

He's not fancy, doesn't like to eat out much, prefers to stay home, which tells me he likes my cooking and our company.

We don't have a fine house, but we have the best he can provide.

He doesn't go around saying "I love you," because he doesn't need to convince himself or me. His tone of voice and touch in everyday living tell me all I want to know.

I'd like to say to husbands and wives who are having difficulties: "If you once cared for the other, there were some qualities there you liked, but they just got lost somewhere along the way. Look back and find them. Bring them to life again before it's too late." — CONTENTED

Dear Helen: This is an answer to T.I.R.E.D., who championed "sloppy" housewives. Housework does seem like a lot when it's listed on paper, as she did, but any job would seem excessive if details were enumerated. TIRED castigated efficiency and organization, saying a family would rather have a Wife and Mother "ready to listen, laugh and love." That is exactly what efficiency and organization do—give a woman more time to spend with her family and pursue her

Opera Star to Vietnam

People in the News

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
NEW YORK (AP) — Opera star Richard Tucker is off to Vietnam where he'll entertain the troops with his tenor voice.

He said Thursday he had been trying to get there for a year but the USO turned him down.

"All the men want, according to the USO, are strip teasers and show girls," he said.

His chance came when he met Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara at a White House reception and suggested he go for the Jewish Passover holidays.

"Therefore, I am paying my own way across and I will be the first opera star to entertain there."

Giants End Cardinals Win Streak

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati's Don Pavletich, a reserve catcher, weighs 211 pounds and isn't what you'd call lightning fast on the bases.

He needed all the help he could get in the 13th inning of the Reds' 3-1 victory over Los Angeles Thursday night.

Pavletich was on first base with a one-out walk when Gerry Arrigo bunted, Ron Perranoski, the Dodgers' third pitcher, grabbed the ball, thought about Pavletich lumbering towards second, hesitated just long enough, then wheeled and fired, hoping for the force.

He didn't get it.

Pavletich slid in safely, moved to third on a force play and then scored the winning run when Vada Pinson dropped a tantalizing single into short right field. The Reds got an insurance run on Pete Rose's base hit.

Gary Nolan, an 18-year-old right-hander, worked the first nine innings for the Reds and struck out 12 Dodgers.

But Los Angeles pushed across a run in the bottom of the ninth on Jim Hickman's pinch double, tying the score at 1-1 and sending the game into extra innings.

It stayed that way until Perranoski hesitated in the 13th.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York battered Chicago 6-1 and San Francisco ended St. Louis' six-game winning streak, 7-5.

In the American League, Cleveland blanked Kansas City 2-0, Detroit nipped California 4-3, and Chicago whacked Washington 8-4. Minnesota and Baltimore were rained out.

Tommy Davis hammered a home run and a double — his first extra-base hits of the season — as the Mets trimmed the Cubs.

Rookie pitcher Tom Seaver, a $40,000 bonus baby, got credit for his first big league victory, with Don Shaw, another rookie, finishing up. Veteran Curt Simmons was the loser.

The Giants bunched five singles in the second inning, scoring five runs, but had to hold off the rallying Cardinals for their victory.

Lou Brock's sixth home runs in seven games had given the Cardinals an early lead, but the Giants bounced back with singles by Willie Mays, Jim Hart, Jesus Alou, winning pitcher Bob Bolin and Ken Henderson.

A bases-loaded error by shortstop Del Marvill kept the rally going and Henderson's two-run single capped it.

The Cards knocked out Bolin with two runs in the seventh and scored another against reliever Lindy McDaniel in the eighth before Frank Linzy stopped them.

Torres Is Favored to Regain Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Although he lost his title to Dick Tiger on a unanimous decision four months ago, Jose Torres is a 6-5 favorite to regain the light heavyweight championship from the Nigerian in their return bout May 16.

The 30-year-old, Puerto Rican-born New Yorker was a 3-1 favorite when he was dethroned by the 37-year-old Tiger at Madison Square Garden last Dec. 1.

"I feel much better now than I did before that fight," said Torres, who has been hampered in the past with pancreas trouble. "I am confident I will win the title back but I know it will be a terrific fight."

Tigers Win 4-3, Angels Just Blew It

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
"Weirdest inning I ever saw," said Al Kaline.

"We blew it," said Bill Rigney.

The star Detroit outfielder and morose California manager were both reliving the final inning of the Tigers' 4-3 victory over the Angels Thursday that had just about everything in it but a California run.

Things were proceeding normally enough until after the Tigers had tied the score in the bottom of the eighth on a wild pitch by Angel reliever Minnie Rojas. But then somebody cast the evil eye on California, and the strangest things started happening.

Jerry Lumpe came up to pinch hit and lined a shot at Jay Johnstone in short centerfield. The ball was below Johnstone's belt but he inexplicably grabbed it with the fingers of his glove instead of down. The ball fell away, allowing Jim Northrup to score the go-ahead run.

The Angels got out of the inning without further damage, and started their half of the ninth in fine fashion.

Rick Reichardt singled and was safe at second when Dick McAuliffe fumbled Don Mincher's double-play ball. But then Reichardt was picked off by Tiger catcher Bill Freehan when Jimmie Hall missed a bunt attempt.

Don Wallace went in to run for Mincher and made Rigney look like a genius when he made it to third when Hall's grounder caromed off Detroit pitcher Fred Gladding's glove.

Gladding struck out Tom Satriano and, on the third strike, Hall broke for second and when Freehan threw down, Wallace started for the plate.

But Dick Tracewski, Tiger second baseman, jumped in front of the bag, took Freehan's throw and fired it right back. Wallace was out by 10 feet; the game was over.

"With two good throws like that," said Detroit Manager Mayo Smith, "you just can't score on that kind of play. There's no way a runner can beat a thrown ball. I don't care if he's Jesse Owens."

In the only other American League games, Cleveland blanked out Kansas City 2-0 and Chicago topped Washington 8-4. Minnesota at Baltimore was rained out.

In the National League, New York beat Chicago 6-1, San Francisco took St. Louis 7-5 and Cincinnati beat Los Angeles 3-1. Steve Hargan gave up just five hits in his first start for the Indians and became the first Cleveland pitcher to go the distance this season.

Chicago scored six times in the third inning, with two-run singles coming from Pete Ward and winning pitcher John Buzhardt. Ken Berry had three hits for the White Sox.

Albuquerque Snaps Travs Win Streak

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Albuquerque snapped the Arkansas Travelers four-game winning streak here Thursday night by gaining a 7-2 victory in a game that was called in the ninth inning because of rain.

The entire game was played in a drizzle and umpire Frank Walsh stopped the affair when the field finally became unplayable.

Dodger pitcher John Duffie clouted a home run in the fifth inning and scattered nine hits to gain the victory.

Albuquerque grabbed a 2-1 lead in the second inning on a homer by Angel Alcaraz and singles by Ken Washington and Ted Sizemore and a sacrifice.

Traveler starter Bob Rado- vich was lifted after Duffie's blow in the fifth and absorbed the defeat.

In another Texas League game Thursday, El Paso launched a 14-hit attack to smother Amarillo 11-4. The loss was the first of the season for Amarillo. The Austin-Dallas-Fort Worth game was postponed because of rain.

76ers Wins, Want to End It Sunday

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "We want to win it Sunday," declared Coach Alex Hannum whose Philadelphia 76ers have the National Basketball Association title within their grasp.

Sharpshooting by Hal Greer, Chet Walker and Wally Jones plus a fantastic defensive performance by 7-foot 1-inch Wilt Chamberlain brought Philadelphia a 122-108 triumph over San Francisco's Warriors Thursday night and a 3-1 edge in their best-of-7 final series.

Returning to Philadelphia for Sunday's battle, the crown appeared all but wrapped up for the 76ers, the first for Chamberlain since he joined the league in 1960.

"Wilt never played better," admitted Warrior Coach Bill Sharman. "Every time I looked up, he was blocking a shot. He must have blocked 15."

The big star also pulled down 27 rebounds and had 8 assists. "I don't believe he ever has had a better defensive game," added Hannum who appears on the verge of gaining revenge on the Warriors who fired him after last season.

Jones hit 14 points in the first quarter and then suffered an injury to his right ankle. Greer took up the slack and, after only two free throws in the opening period, finished with 38 points for the night.

Walker unloaded in the final stanza with 14 and 33 total to insure victory before 15,117, the largest crowd ever to watch pro basketball in San Francisco. Another 1,300 took in the game via closed-circuit television at the downtown Civic Auditorium.

The triple-pronged 76er attack compensated for a 43-point output from the Warriors' Rick Barry.

The 30-year-old Greer commented, "For an old man, I guess I had a good game. Everyone took up the slack but we could not break the game open. We would get up by 15 and 17 and they would come back."

With three minutes left, the Warriors cut the edge to eight points but then it was Greer, with two free throws and a field goal, who broke it open.

Auerbach Heads Group Buying Celts

BOSTON (AP) — Red Auerbach, who built the Boston Celts into a sports dynasty, is expected to take a seat soon as an owner of the National Basketball Association club.

A group headed by Auerbach and Jack Waldron, the Celtics president, is negotiating with Marvin Kratter, board chairman of both the club and National Equities, Inc., which owns the NBA franchise.

"We think we have a very good chance," Auerbach said Thursday after Kratter announced the Celtics are for sale "at the proper price to the proper people."

Kratter said that he, Auerbach and Waldron have discussed the matter as well as "about 20 other offers we've received in the last year." Only a concrete offer appears needed to complete the transaction.

"I would say that Jack and Red have a very good chance to buy the club," Kratter said. "I think it would be a fitting culmination to a great basketball career if Red and his group bought the club."

Ron Hunt of the Los Angeles Dodgers was one of the four toughest men to fan in the National League last season when he played for the Mets.

None of those fellows appear to pose much of a threat to Brewer here. Palmer, the year's leading money-winner who could lose his standing should Brewer win the $20,000 for first place, said he was too weary and was fighting a cold when he soared to a 76.

Slakes isn't playing here and Beard also shot a 76 in the opening round.

The closest men to Brewer as he set out today in the second round were Hugh Royer of Columbus, Ga., and Kermit Zarley of Seattle, Wash., with 66s.

A spokesman for the draft board said if Clay refused to be inducted, he would be required to sign a paper stating his refusal. The case then would be turned over to the federal district attorney for disposition.

There was no immediate indication about the way Clay's action could affect the boxing title. President Robert Evans of the World Boxing Association said it was too early to make a statement about the status of the case should Clay be imprisoned for refusing to serve in the Army.

The Justice Department said if Clay held to his plan, the Selective Service System presumably would recommend he be prosecuted.

Clay Vows Not to Go Into Army

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay says he will not go into the Army "no matter what it costs me."

Clay told a news conference he would appear for induction in Houston next week, "but I won't take the oath."

For months, Clay has fought a losing battle to avoid the draft on grounds that military duty would be contrary to his Black Muslim religion.

Clay is slated for induction next Friday at Houston, the city he now calls his home. He had his case transferred there from his draft board in Louisville.

The champ came back to Louisville this week "to be with my people" during a controversy over an open-housing law.

"The situation in Louisville has a lot to do with my decision not to go in the Army but it's not the main reason," Clay said Thursday.

He appeared earlier in the week at a rally for advocates of open housing but did not march in the almost nightly demonstrations. The city has refused to pass such a law.

Clay said he would not enter the Army, even in a non-combatant role.

"No I am not going 10,000 miles to help murder and kill and burn other people simply to help continue the domination of white slavemasters over the dark people the world over. This is the day and age when such evil injustice must come to an end," he added.

A spokesman for the draft board said if Clay refused to be inducted, he would be required to sign a paper stating his refusal. The case then would be turned over to the federal district attorney for disposition.

There was no immediate indication about the way Clay's action could affect the boxing title. President Robert Evans of the World Boxing Association said it was too early to make a statement about the status of the case should Clay be imprisoned for refusing to serve in the Army.

islation over a presidential veto was March 3, 1845.
The legislation was entitled: "An act relating to Tyler vetoed the act but Congress passed it over his veto by a vote of 41 to 1

Home Furnishing Workshop

—Dolores McBride Photos with Star Camera

Juanise Johnson, Extension Home Furnishings Specialist, is pictured giving demonstrations and information at recent workshop held in Third District Livestock Show Coliseum on furniture refinishing techniques. Examples of antiquing furniture and picture frames, paper-backed foil, and marbling, and plaques were displayed. The specialist assembled preparations and used techniques for unusual and creative results and explained that the procedures were within the capabilities of most any homemaker if proper directions were followed. Thirty participated in the workshop with over fifty requesting information. Homemakers may get instructions by calling local Extension Service office.

Home Economist, assists the homemakers with applying paper-backed gold foil antique finish as instructed by Juanise Johnson, Extension Home Furnishings Specialist at recent workshop.

After the foil had been given a finishing treatment it was torn into pieces at random and glued to table top or other surface overlapping, producing an interesting effect of dark and light pattern. An oil color stain was rubbed into foil after glued design had dried. A coat of clear varnish or plastic then produced a finish to this unusual accessory piece. Directions are available free upon request from the local Extension office.

Mrs. Jesse Nusko receives assistance from Mrs. Juanise Johnson, Extension Home Furnishings Specialist with antiquing techniques at recent workshop organized by the local Extension Service office to help homemakers bring new life and beauty to old furniture.

Mrs. Nusko chose a green base coat and painted the chest as pictured above with two coats of flat enamel before applying a dark glaze. Mrs. Nusko suggests for successful antiquing, the furniture surface should be smooth, dry, and free from dirt, wax, or grease before it is painted. For antiquing, if the surface is not cracked, chipped or uneven, she says to simply sand it carefully to give the new coat of paint a slightly rough surface to adhere to. She stresses the importance of the base paint being thoroughly dry before applying glaze. Mrs. Nusko emphasizes that taking time is one of the secrets to a good finish. She applied the glaze one section at a time to avoid too fast drying. She plans to apply two coats of dull varnish, polish with very fine steel wool and then wax for a protective and beautiful finish.

Extension Home Economist Dolores McBride reports directions are available free upon request from the local Extension office.

Another available Extension publication, "Refinishing Furniture", prepared by the Home Furnishings Specialist, gives directions for refinishing furniture in natural finish including suggestions and illustrations for removing old finish, repairing, sanding, staining (kinds and formulas), wood filling techniques, and application of types of finishes.

Extension Home Furnishings Specialist assists Mrs. Marion Crosby and Mrs. J. E. Adams with techniques of applying paper-backed foil to accessory pieces for an antique gold finish that adds a touch of glamour to a room. Mrs. Vincent Jones is shown in background antiquing small table.

The Specialist explains that paper-backed foil method might be used on small table or other er appropriate location and is simple to do. This finish proved popular at the workshop. Directions are available free upon request from the local Extension Office.

Wins $10,000 From Employer for Ideas

DETROIT (AP) — If you use the work suggestion box to dispose of cigarette butts, the thought of Thomas Gawlik might spur you to approach the idea bin with a different gleam in your eye.

Gawlik, 52, has won more than $10,000 from Kelsey-Hayes Co. in the past 10 years for 85 ideas.

Gawlik, of suburban Livonia, was named suggester of the year by the Detroit chapter of the National Association of Suggestion Systems.

As a tool inspector with Kelsey-Hayes for 35 years, Gawlik has submitted 215 ideas to the company, 20 of them now under consideration.

"I've been with the company so long I can see when something's not going to work," he said. "What looks right to the designer doesn't look right to me, so I think up a way to make it better."

His biggest award was $4,100 for improving an out-of-balance condition on a machine similar to a lathe.

"I just took an eccentric cut where the engineers didn't think it was possible," he said.

Another time, Gawlik repositioned some weights on drums to help them pass inspection. Reward: $3,700.

His ideas sometimes range to other company levels.

"I said the company should diversify itself in the component field for its own assembly operations," Gawlik recalled. "My idea was turned down because the company thought the board of directors should handle things like that."

Suggestions are becoming a big business, NASS officials said in honoring Gawlik.

Gawlik's awards pale beside the $72,000 once given by International Business Machines Inc. to two repairmen who suggested a method to eliminate some magnetic tapes in computers.

NASS said that 243 members of the association awarded some $24.5 million for 575,062 ideas in 1965, the last year for which figures are available.

Says Domestic Programs Are Neglected

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., told an audience at the University of Arkansas here Thursday night that America had neglected its domestic programs because of the Vietnam war.

America has not faced the problems of crime in the cities, traffic in its streets, pollution of air and water, he said.

"Instead, it has spent $58 billion and concentrated all its efforts on the Vietnam war," he added.

In criticizing the United States' present foreign policy, Fulbright suggested an alternate one.

He suggested a policy which would make America an "intelligent humane society whose principal contribution to the outside world would be the power of its own example, a nation which cooperates with other countries and with international bodies like the United Nations to maintain peace."

Life In Arkansas

An alert cashier at the Hindsville community in Madison County probably averted the tension of a bank robbery last Saturday when he hastily decided to close the bank 15 minutes early.

The Bank of Hindsville in the small community of 100 persons is a luring target for robbers and was last robbed in January. It is located on U.S. 68 between Springdale and Huntsville.

The citizens of Hindsville have become alert for any suspicious persons lurking near their bank.

Last Saturday a car with a Missouri license plate was seen driving back and forth in front of the bank. Witnesses said it was a relatively new car but they differed on its color—either solid yellow or yellow with a black top. Regardless, their attention was focused on it and some notified the back cashier, Loyd Linebarger around 11:45 a.m.

Not wanting to risk a robbery, Linebarger decided to bolt the doors and close the bank 15 minutes early.

Just minutes later Linebarger said, "Somebody hit the door pretty hard."

The possible would-be robbers weren't too persistent, though. When confronted with the locked door, they turned and fled. Officers were trying to spot the car in a search Saturday, but it was not found.

Allan Gilbert Jr., columnist for the Northwest Arkansas Times at Fayetteville, went to Augusta, Ga., to see the Masters Golf Tournament and returned with loads of material for his column.

Gilbert wrote this week, "I hate to bore those readers with a total antipathy of the game of golf, but having spent a week among the greats of the game, I have so many notes I don't know what else to do."

Gilbert said the conversation quite frequently turned to football at Augusta and that he got a friendly feeling being from Fayetteville.

He said this "stems from everyone's prompt interest in the Razorbacks and Frank Broyles. Coach Broyles is as big a deal in Georgia as the peach, or almost."

Long Revives Campaign Financing Bid

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell B. Long has launched a new Senate bid to revive his controversial presidential election campaign financing law in a move posing new dangers for an administration tax bill.

Long, D-La., introduced Tuesday night an amendment to the tax bill that would restore in a modified form the election financing measure which the Senate voted to repeal 48 to 42 last Thursday.

He also issued a broad hint to business interests: Get behind his move or face possible defeat of the administration measure to restore major business tax breaks.

Resumption of the bitter battle over the election financing law threw another roadblock before the measure, passed by the House more than a month ago, to reinstate the 7 per cent investment credit on machinery and equipment and accelerated depreciation benefits on income-producing buildings.

The Senate first rejected the election financing law in an amendment to the tax measure.

Long vowed at the time to fight to overturn the amendment, and warned businessmen that if he lost, they might lose the tax incentive measure as well.

He appeared to be repeating that warning Tuesday when he said that whatever the fate of his move, "I think this bill clearly is in danger."

Long said he had been advised "a majority of the House conferees on this bill may well insist that they will not take any extraneous amendments."

He gave no timetable for his bid to revive the election financing law but said it would provide for:

—Retention of the $1 checkoff which a taxpayer could designate he wanted to go into a presidential campaign fund, to be shared equally by the major parties.

—Retention of the $30-million ceiling each on funds for the Democratic and Republican parties in 1968.

—Liberalization of the formula for minor parties so that one could qualify for aid next year if it received 2.5 million votes. As passed in 1966, the law required a third party to get 5 million votes in the preceding election to be eligible.

—Specific guidelines as to how the money would be spent, limiting it initially to television and radio, newspaper advertising and transportation. It also would require that if a party used the federal money for these purposes, it could not get any private contributions for the same items.

The Senate spent most of Tuesday afternoon debating two Social Security amendments to the tax bill offered by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt.

Beaten 79 to 6 was a Prouty proposal to increase basic Social Security benefits by $4 billion, including raising the minimum from $44 to $70 a month.

Rejected 69 to 13 was an amendment to provide medicare hospitalization coverage for persons who reach 65 after Dec. 31 this year and have not contributed to Social Security or railroad retirement.

Pro Cagers Battle for Players

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The anticipated war for players between the established National Basketball Association and the emerging American Basketball Association has erupted with legal battles on two fronts.

The Los Angeles Lakers of the NBA took action Thursday, filing a $3,050,000 damage suit against the ABA and Laker forward Jim (Bad News) Barnes, who said earlier he signed with the Dallas Chaarrals of the newly formed league.

NBA President Walter Kennedy said the Baltimore Bullets have begun legal action against the ABA, its New York franchise and player Leroy Ellis, who signed with the New York club last week.

"Each of the owners has advised me," said Kennedy, "that they intend to pursue the matter of players breaching contracts through the proper legal channels."

Thus, a full-scale conflict appears likely because many ABA owners feel there isn't enough talent outside the NBA to stock a productive professional league.

The Lakers' suit, filed by owner Jack Kent Cooke's California Sports Inc., said the ABA carried on its negotiations with Barnes and other players in a "deliberate, malicious, wanton, reckless and unjustifiable manner."

And the suit sought to enjoin Barnes from playing with the Dallas team.

Cooke was unavailable for comment, but Dallas operations manager Max Williams said in Dallas that he didn't think Los Angeles could sue Barnes for breach of contract.

"His contract with the Los Angeles Lakers has until Oct. 1 to run," said Williams. "We don't care if Los Angeles wants to play him until Oct. 1 because our contract isn't effective until that time. It seems to me the Lakers haven't investigated this very thoroughly."

No Point to Financing Purge;
A Bad Guess

Washington is tied up in a ding-dong battle over whether to trust President Johnson with the custody of a 30-million-dollar presidential campaign fund.

Originally the Congress passed a law permitting the citizen to deduct $1 from his income tax return and contribute it to a national campaign fund to be divided between the two major political parties.

But Senate critics of Mr. Johnson understand the Democratic party fund would be controlled personally by the President—and they fear he would use it in side excursions to purge unfriendly characters in congressional elections. Therefore the Senate has voted to repeal the law.

And the House probably will go along with the Senate. The objection is not to Mr. Johnson personally; it's simply ingrained in the nature of Americans to distrust the business of lodging campaign financial power in the President's office. Presidents have in the past used every possible means to destroy congressional critics—a notable power-minded chief executive having been the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt didn't get away with it, nor would Mr. Johnson in all probability—but there's no point to encouraging him with a 30-million-dollar slush fund to hire political hatchet-men and pay political advertising bills.

Your editor discovers he was a bit previous in guessing yesterday that we would have a process color picture layout for today's paper. We turned out four color productions earlier in the week but none of them could be gotten ready in time for this edition. The final checkup on a four-color job is what is known as a Kodak color-key proof—which tells you in advance whether the production will show up on press—and that final step is what we're working on now. You learn something new every day. Vic Cobb, television authority, was down at my house the other morning working on a hi-fi set, and he remarked: "I'll bet I'm one of the few guys in town who really understands what you mean when you write about your troubles with 'registering' process color—we have that same problem with color TV sets."

I didn't know that, and it is nice to know we have fellow sufferers in town. I had pointed out in this column that the printing of four-color pictures is the same all over the world regardless what processes or machines you use—the primary colors, blue, red, yellow, plus black, are applied singly but are lined up (or "registered") so that they appear to be a simultaneous printing.

Cobb tells me he has that same problem when adjusting a color TV set. The three primary colors have different origins and must be brought together perfectly to make what looks like a single picture—actually four, fused into one. It's the toughest job in the graphic arts, and now I have a witness. Ask the nearest TV service man!

Allies Concerned Over Red Buildup and Fear S. Vietnam Invasion

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and allied leaders were reported seriously concerned today about the possibility of a direct, large-scale invasion of South Vietnam by North Vietnamese forces concentrated north of the zone dividing the two countries.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk has told a conference of foreign ministers of the seven nations with troops in South Vietnam that in spite of allied military successes, Communist forces are still full of fight and are displaying aggressiveness particularly in the border provinces.

South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Do issued this warning: "I cannot exclude in the future the possibility of larger-scale invasion."

U.S. officials say the North Vietnamese have concentrated four divisions of their troops directly north of the demilitarized zone originally created to separate the two countries.

The United States and South Vietnam repeatedly have accused the North Vietnamese of making military thrusts across the zone, particularly in recent weeks. U.S. forces just south of the zone have been reinforced in recent days.

Some authorities here say privately they believe the North Vietnamese soon may launch a major operation in this area. These authorities note that heavy rains are due in the area in a few weeks and the Communists may count on bad weather to hamper U.S. air operations.

The foreign ministers conference opened at the State Department Thursday following a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. The SEATO council—with France absent and Pakistan abstaining—issued a communique endorsing the U.S. policy of refusal to stop the bombing of North Vietnam without reciprocal scaling down of the war by the Communist side.

Countries in the seven-nation conference on Vietnam policy are the United States, South Vietnam, Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, the Philippines, and Thailand.

Their meeting, which ends today, is closed but an authorized spokesman gave out a summary or text of statements made Thursday.

These develop two principal themes. The allies have failed to present to the rest of the world a widely convincing case of their reasons for fighting in Vietnam and for conducting the war as they do. Some called for a campaign to appeal for public understanding.

The allied governments should develop better machinery for consulting on and coordinating their peace efforts.

Sees No Handicap to Having Famous Actor, Comedian for a Father

NEW YORK (AP) — Some sons feel it is a handicap to have a famous father.

Not actor Sydney Chaplin, son of Charles Chaplin.

"I think anyone who feels his life has been scarred because of the fame of his father is a bore," he said.

Sydney recently completed a role in "The Countess From Hong Kong," which was produced and directed by Charles Chaplin. It was his second appearance in a production by his father. In 1952 he played a young composer in "Limelight."

The younger Chaplin is proud of his father's historic stature in the film world.

"My father invented the big salaries in this business," he remarked. "He was the first man to ask and get a million dollars a year. He was always a good businessman."

Life with father in Hollywood wasn't too congenial for Sydney as a lad, however, because of his own harum scarum ways.

"Because he had to quit school after the first grade to support his mother, my father always had a great respect for education," he said.

"But I was pretty wild. I had been thrown out of three schools by the time I was 16."

"Dad was terribly disappointed in me at that time. He tried to be strict. He told me, 'You have to be something in life. You must do something to earn a living.'"

"But how can you tell a kid that he needs to go to work when he lives in a house with 12 servants?"

"You know how some kids earn money by setting up a lemonade stand in their front yard? Well, I tried that gimmick, too, but instead of lemonade I sold scotch. Why not? It was there, and easier to do. And at 15 I was getting only $1 a week as an allowance."

A tour of duty during the war, Sydney said, brought an end to his playboy ways and a realization that it was time for him to seek a career of his own.

He helped organize a theater in Hollywood and discovered that father wasn't the only actor in the family. Since then Sydney has appeared in half a dozen films and a notable series of Broadway musicals, including "The Bells Are Ringing" with Judy Holliday and "Funny Girl" with Barbra Streisand.

Sydney maintains homes here and in Paris, where until recently he also owned a restaurant called the Chez Moustache.

Six feet one and powerfully built, Sydney bears little physical resemblance to his father.

Scientists Told to Study Human Problem

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Engineers and scientists must create a new technology devoted to curing human problems produced by technological development, says the president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

"We are beginning to suspect that free speech and free press might become irrelevant if we are slowly strangled by the air we breathe or slowly poisoned by our drinking water," Howard W. Johnson told an MIT alumni dinner Thursday night.

Johnson said the right of free citizens to move without hindrance can be made meaningless by breakdown of mass transportation.

He said modern technology must be used "to create the large-scale environment in which man can realize his full potential as a human being."

"It must be as sensitive to aesthetics as to efficiency, and to human growth as to economic and industrial expansion."

3 of 4 U.S. Rubber Firms Are Struck

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The United Rubber Workers Union struck three of the big four rubber companies today as contracts expired at midnight. More than 50,000 union jobs were affected.

It was the first company-wide strike since 1965 when the rubber workers manned picket lines against the U.S. Rubber Co., now Uniroyal.

A union spokesman said it was the biggest since 1959 when the union called walkouts against the same companies struck early today — the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., the B.F. Goodrich Co., and Uniroyal.

Word of the breakdown in Firestone negotiations came at about 10:30 p.m. Thursday. The Goodrich strike was announced shortly after midnight, and Uniroyal was struck a few minutes later.

Picket lines across the country were manned, according to a URW spokesman, while negotiations continued with Goodrich early today.

A business meeting for District 4, United Daughters of the Confederacy, was held in Washington on Wednesday, April 19 in the famous old Taver. There, lunch was served at noon in the Tap Room, and those attending went on a conducted tour of the recently restored Garland House under the direction of Mrs. Charles Haynes.

New officers for the coming year elected included Mrs. Wilbur Jones of Ozan, secretary. When Chapter Presidents made their reports, Mrs. Harry Whitworth gave hers for the Pat Cleburne Chapter. That chapter served as hostess for the morning coffee hour.

Watkins of Hot Springs, state convention general chairman, told of plans for the meeting in Hot Springs November 4-9 and appointed several committees to prepare for it.

A highlight of the meeting was music presented by Bob Keel, a former resident of Washington, now living in Texas. He sang "Old Man River" as a solo and led the group in "Dixie."

Besides Mrs. Haynes, Mrs. Jones, and Mrs. Whitworth, other members of the Pat Cleburne Chapter were Mrs. J. J. Battle, Mrs. J. W. Branch, and Mrs. Cecil Weaver.

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — Two persons were killed Thursday night in a two-car collision on U. S. 70 about 1 1/2 miles east of here, with one of the victims being thrown from the car into the path of another vehicle.

State Trooper Roy Kirkdossier identified the victims as Walter Louis Baskins Jr., 45, of Memphis and James Edgar Lucas, 34, of the Heth community in St. Francis County.

Kirkdossier said the collision threw Lucas from the vehicle and into the other lane of traffic where he was struck by a car driven by Gordon Gillespie, 38, of Fort Worth, Tex.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Theodore Black, 30, of Proctor crossed the center line and collided with the victims' car, driven by Baskins, Kirkdossier said.

The U.S. command in Vietnam says the two Haiphong power plants were severely damaged by Thursday's raids. An admiral on the Kitty Hawk says "very, very few" neighboring homes were hit.

Damage to Haiphong Plants Heavy

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Navy fliers today reported "severe damage" to Haiphong's two power plants in their raids Thursday which put out the lights in North Vietnam's major port. Air Force pilots claimed major destruction to trains, rail yards and storage dumps in simultaneous attacks 20 to 40 miles from Hanoi.

U.S. military headquarters made no announcement of any plane losses in the raids Thursday but confirmed a Communist report that two American planes were lost over North Vietnam Wednesday. The headquarters said the three fliers in the two planes were missing. Hanoi had said one was captured.

Ground action in South Vietnam was reported light but B52 bombers made six raids against enemy positions and troop concentrations. Four of these struck at troop and staging areas in the northern end of the country, increasingly menaced by massing North Vietnamese troops. A fifth raid pounded a major North Vietnamese infiltration route inside the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

The six B52 raids in one day were one short of the record for the bombers, which made seven strikes on Feb. 16.

In the forays against the Hanoi-Haiphong complex Thursday Navy fliers from two aircraft carriers in the Tonkin Gulf concentrated on the two Haiphong power plants, flying through intense anti-aircraft and missile fire. The carrier pilots attacked nine anti-aircraft sites and 13 missile sites in the Haiphong area, the Navy reported.

One of the power plants attacked was 1.1 miles northwest of the center of Haiphong and within the city limits. It was the first time in the war that a target inside Haiphong was bombed, but Rear Adm. David C. Richardson on the carrier Kitty Hawk said reconnaissance photos taken after the raid showed "very, very few" homes destroyed.

Officials in France Fight in a Duel

PARIS (AP) — A Gaullist member of the National Assembly duelled to defend his honor today, but the Socialist mayor of Marseille who called him an idiot during an assembly debate won.

The Gaullist was only scratched twice on an arm.

Mayor Gaston Defferre, 56 and a Socialist leader in the assembly, and Gaullist Rene Ribiere, 45, crossed dueling swords at noon on private property in Neuilly-sur-Seine a suburb just west of Paris.

The duel lasted only four minutes. Defferre, though his opponent had 11 years on him, was reported much faster with the sword, flicking Ribiere on his right arm at once and then a second time.

The duel was halted and the adversaries were embraced by their seconds.

Although Ribiere chose the weapon, "this morning was the first time I had ever picked up one of these weapons," he said. "Defferre knows the technique of sword fighting."

Rep. Offered Housing Aid

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R. Ark., was one of several Republicans in Congress who introduced bills to establish a national home ownership foundation to assist low income families in the purchase of homes. Such a foundation would raise $2 billion in private funds to finance home mortgages for low income families.

This approach, Hammerschmidt said, would be far less costly than the administration programs for public housing and rent subsidies that "would reach only a few communities."
